PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

As we move forward into the final quarter of 2024, I am excited to share some significant developments within our global community. One of the highlights of recent months has been the successful signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) between the World Federation of Intensive and Critical Care (WFICC) and the Asia Pacific Intensive Care Symposium (APICS). This landmark agreement underscores our mutual commitment to strengthening collaboration across the Asia-Pacific region, ensuring that together, we continue to improve critical care standards and practices globally.

Additionally, As president of WFICC I had the privilege of engaging in productive discussions with the Southern Africa Critical Care Society during a recent visit. These conversations have opened up exciting avenues for future partnerships and growth. The dedication and innovative spirit of our colleagues in Southern Africa are truly inspiring, and I look forward to seeing the impact of our continued collaboration.

I am also pleased to extend an invitation to participate in a special WHO Consultancy, organized in partnership with WFICC, which will take place on December 12, 2024. This event will focus on key advancements and policy strategies in critical care medicine and will offer an opportunity for us to influence the global landscape of intensive care. I encourage your active involvement, as your expertise will be critical in shaping the future of our profession.

"Let us work hand in hand to achieve our shared goal: delivering the highest standards of care to every patient, everywhere."

Jorge Hidalgo
President
WFICC

As always, thank you for your continued support and dedication to improving the lives of critically ill patients worldwide. Together, we are making a lasting impact.

BIO

We have a responsibility with the world. Our aim must be to achieve the delivery of the Highest standards of critical care to all regions of the globe. To engage in such an ambitious goal, we must all work together. A work initiated in recent years and that requires a continuous effort and commitment by our leadership, council members and collaborators.

The World Federation will engage regional societies in national and transnational projects, especially in areas with low resources, by finding mechanisms allowing us to utilize existing Resources and to distribute those to underserved areas, while at the same time securing new funding sources.

Some of that work is already on the way, especially with Partnership with WHO. We have already successfully completed our first strategic project, and a group of young investigators, from low-resource settings, will see the opportunity to present their works, secure publications and eligible for further grants. We will constantly seek opportunities to return value to our members.

Finally, it is my belief that our Federation has advanced in Participation and Diversity, however, far from being static we need to evolve and examine our rules and regulations, be attentive to the changing environment in healthcare, the needs of our members and to the geographic distribution of our societies. We certainly need to Hear and be heard, and we must seek active membership participation, think out of the box, as we look at our future.
